

You may have heard that the normal functions at the National Institutes of Health (NIH) have been disrupted in many ways by the current administration.

Recently, a courageous group of NIH staff members stood up and wrote a letter to the new NIH Director, calling on him to reverse some of the most harmful actions, and to engage in a dialog to resume focus on the actual NIH mission. This letter is called the "Bethesda Declaration".

A group of scientists wrote an open letter in support of these brave public servants. It now has about 25,000 signers including ~50 Nobel laureates. But this is about all the American people and their health, now and into the future.

Please consider adding your name to this letter.

https://act.standupforscience.net/forms/add-name-bethesda-declaration/?source=website&utm\_source=website&utm\_campaign=bethesdadec/

For more information, you can find other documents and links here:

https://jeremymberg.github.io/jeremyberg.github.io/Bethesda\_Declaration.html

Share these materials with your family, friends, and other networks.